Inspection findings

How well the early years provision meets the needs of the range of children who attend. This is outstanding

Children are enthusiastic learners who are busy, happy and highly engaged in their play. They enjoy a wide range of interesting learning opportunities provided by highly skilled and knowledgeable staff. Staff design each area of the nursery extremely well, to stimulate and support children's development and well-being. They provide high quality teaching, for example, using group times in the pre-school room very effectively to teach children about letters and sounds. Children's individual learning needs are met, with focused plans based on accurate assessments. Staff quickly identify and address gaps in children's learning. They access support from a wide range of other professionals to provide specialised, personal support for the many children who need additional help. Partnerships with parents support children's learning very well through a strong shared approach. Children are all making significant progress from their starting points and developing the skills that will support the next stage of their learning.

The contribution of the early years provision to the well-being of children is outstanding

The nursery team places an exceptional emphasis on children's well-being. Children have strong relationships with the key staff members responsible for their care. Children show in their behaviour that they feel valued by everyone at nursery. They confidently invite adults into their play, secure in the knowledge that all adults at the nursery are interesting to play with and interested in them. Staff help children learn to manage their emotions and their behaviour exceedingly well. They frequently talk with older children about their feelings. As a result, children generally behave extremely well and are often kind and considerate to others. Staff provide children with interesting opportunities to move, exercise and challenge themselves safely. Older children enjoy a rich variety of physical activity sessions during the week. Leaders and staff keep children safe from harm and protect their health with robust practice, high standards and excellent attention to children's individual needs.

The effectiveness of the leadership and management of the early years provision is outstanding

The manager monitors the progress of individual children and groups rigorously, to ensure children receive the targeted support they need. Leaders monitor practice closely and provide staff with strong support through supervisions, training and qualifications. This results in high quality teaching, which continually improves. The manager encourages reflective practice and evaluation, which leads to further improvements to the provision for children. For example, leaders have identified offering even richer opportunities to accelerate younger three-year-olds' learning, even more effectively when they first move into the pre-school room. The nursery manager and school leaders have an excellent understanding of the barriers and opportunities for improving outcomes for the children in their care. The nursery is very focused on families, and the manager and staff work together with parents exceptionally well to solve problems, such as poor attendance. This makes a significant difference to children's lives.
